

Icario

Evonence helped Revel to migrate all their emails, contacts, calendar events, and drive data to the new Icario accounts. All the Revel users were trained to use the Google Workspace features like Gmail, Google Calendar, Google Meet, and more.

The challenge

Revel and Novu, two of the nation's leading healthcare technology companies, merged in 2020 to form Icario. Revel was using Exchange Online as their email service and Google Drive for document management and collaboration while Novu was already on Google Workspace. There were a lot of inter-compatibility issues with a lot of services between Google Workspace and Exchange Online.

The solution

With all the users from Novu already on Google Workspace and Revel already using Google Drive, It made more sense for Revel to also switch entirely to Google Workspace and have a uniform experience for the users across both the companies. With the merger and formation of Icario, it was the right time for Revel to switch completely to Google Workspace.

The results

With all the users using Google Workspace, the collaboration increased to a great extent between both companies after the merger. Significant decrease in IT expenditure as Exchange Online was displaced completely. Compatibility issues were completely gone due to consolidation to a single platform thereby saving significant time for the IT department.

“ Evonence did a great job accelerating some of the key pieces of the Revel and Novu integration by helping us move the entire organization into Google Workspace. Responsive and prompt, the team was quick to address any questions or hiccups we ran into. This allowed the Icario team to focus on other initiatives, our core competencies and continuing to deliver value to our clients. ”
